"Instacart has become part of the household rhythm for people across North America looking to have the groceries and goods they need delivered same-day from the retailers they know and love. For many people, the essentials they need go beyond fresh food and pantry staples and, over the last few years, we've seen an increase in customer demand for personal care, wellness and beauty products," said Chris Rogers, Vice President of Retail at Instacart. "Today, we're excited to welcome Sephora to Instacart, delivering more selection to customers looking for a seamless, same-day shopping experience from their favorite beauty retailer. We're proud to bring Sephora's unrivaled product choice - from emerging brands to trusted favorites - their leading rewards program and inspiring shopping experience to the Instacart marketplace. Now, for the first time ever, customers across North America can get their makeup, skincare, wellness products and more delivered from the Sephora store to their door in as fast as an hour."

"We're thrilled to partner with Instacart and continue to provide an innovative and seamless shopping experience for our clients," said Carolyn Bojanowski, SVP and GM of eCommerce for Sephora. "We're always looking for unique, yet practical ways to meet our clients at every touchpoint; and now more than ever, we know they seek ease and convenience. With our Instacart partnership, we can offer a new same-day delivery service option to our existing clients, and also introduce some of the benefits of being a Sephora client to Instacart's marketplace."

As part of this partnership, Instacart has developed new product functionality that brings the uniqueness of the Sephora store experience to life on the Instacart marketplace. The new consumer shopping design makes it easier for Sephora Beauty Insiders and new customers alike to seamlessly browse and shop from Sephora's more than 300 carefully curated brands and thousands of unique products, and quickly find their perfect color through a new, one-click shade selector.

Additionally, Sephora and Instacart are bringing the perks of Sephora's beloved Beauty Insider loyalty program to the Instacart marketplace. Now, all Beauty Insider members can earn points on every Sephora purchase they make via Instacart. Beauty Insider members in the U.S. and Canada will also have access to Sephora's legendary Savings Events on Instacart, giving customers access to the great deals they've come to know and love from Sephora, coupled with delivery in as fast as an hour.

Customers can begin shopping from Sephora on Instacart by visiting www.instacart.com/sephora in the U.S. or www.instacart.ca/sephora-canada in Canada; or by downloading the Instacart app on their mobile device. Customers then enter their zip code, select Sephora's storefront and can begin adding beauty and wellness products to their Instacart cart. For all orders, an Instacart personal shopper will pick and deliver the order within the customer's designated time frame "" whether they choose to receive it same-day or schedule their delivery days in advance.
